The Goodman-LeGrand Museum

The Goodman - LeGrand Museum was the first property in Smith County to be listed on the National Register of Historic Places. It has been a Texas Historic Landmark since 1964.

The home was built in 1859 on the highest point of a nine-acre tract of land. It was originally a one-story, four-room house for Samuel Gallatin Smith. When the Civil War broke out in 1861, he sold the house to the Franklin N. Gary family. After the war, in 1866, Dr. Samuel Adams Goodman purchased the house. His son, Dr. William Jeffries Goodman, a local doctor and Civil War surgeon, bought the house from his father and moved in with his new bride, Mary Priscilla Gaston Goodman, in 1867. The Goodman family made the house their home for 73 years

Dr. Goodman's oldest daughter, Sallie, married James H. LeGrand in 1893 and he moved into her family home at that time. Sallie inherited the house in 1921 and upon her death in 1939, she bequeathed the estate to the City of Tyler to be open as a museum.

Historical records show that the Goodman-LeGrand House has undergone a number of renovations. The second story was added around 1880. In 1926, the house was transformed from a Texas Colonial/Italianate architectural style to a Classic/Greek Revival style with projecting circular porticos and two-story columns.

HOW YOUR DONATION HELPS

The Goodman Museum is in great need of repairs to the exterior of the home. In the spring of 2020, an estimated $827,600 was needed to replace water-damaged wood, repaint the exterior and repair the roof, the foundation and the historic shutters.

The Goodman Museum relies on donations for its day-to-day operations and repairs. Your donation to the museum will greatly help in the restoration and the preservation of this historic Tyler home.
